Woodmen Visit Glen Ellen

The Woodmen of the World of this place journeyed to Glen Ellen last Saturday evening and joined the Glen Ellen Woodmen in their regular session. There were nineteen members present from Sonoma and the Glen Ellen lodge turned out nearly its full membership.

After handshaking all around the meeting was call to order and the regular routine of business transacted, and at its close the visiting members were pleasantly surprised by the arrival of the Women of Woodcraft heavily laden with huge baskets of good things for the inner man and who immediately laid covers for all. To say these ladies thoroughly understand the culinery art is putting it mildly, for on every hand one encountered an appetizing dish, which was quickly devoured by those hungry visiting neighbors. There were many salads, cakes, pies, fruit, bread and butter and meats, and the banquet was topped off with a large dish of ice cream.

At the close of the repast Toast master Allison called on several members for speeches, and all responded, causing much laughter. We recall one gentleman in particular who had just returned from a deer hunt empty handed, and who apparently thought himself still looking for the deer that never came, and while patiently waiting amused himself by shooting at a squirrel, and after several shots and no squirrel he discovered that it was only a flea on his eyelash. Poor man, 'tis no wonder the deer are still roaming the hills. No game laws are needed for such as he.

Finally the tables were cleared and all enjoyed a half hour social chat with old friends and new acquaintances, and finally several members were called upon to show their talent.

Mrs. Higgins responded with several selections on the piano and proved herself and accomplished musician.

T. H. Baines sang a song, bringing tears to the eyes of all, and recited a monologue.

Frank Riser arranged his hair in Paderuski style and seating himself at the piano allowed his nimble fingers to trip lightly over the keys, singing with pathos an excellent song.

W. H. Bridges evidently did not not believe in showing his talents without pay and would not sing until they brought him a large dish of ice cream, notwithstanding the fact that he ate four large dishes of cream while at the banquet table and it is stated that even then he wanted more. Finally he was induced to sing, and playing his own accompaniment created a decided impression by singing "I wish I were single again," and at the close of the song we noted several ladies using their handkerchiefs freely.

L. D. Green also raised his melodious voice in song and brought down the house. Later he demonstrated his ability as a phrenologist, and the reading he gave caused much laughter.

Finally at the hour of 2 a. m. the tired but satisfied merry makers departed for their several homes.

In the near future the Glen Ellen lodges will probably be invited to visit the Sonoma lodges.

School Moneys

Something like $3,120,000 will be distributed for the support of elementry and secondary schools by the State this year. This is a large sum, but is still to be agumented by the millions that the various cities and counties of the State will spend upon the schools within their own dominions.

Estimates of the State's share of the cost is based on the apportionment of the moneys to the schools, as computed by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction. The following apportionment, which is for the half year, shows that the grammar or elementary schools will receive $1,460,903.84, and the High or secondary schools, $109,344 47, making a total of $1,570 248,31.

The Sonoma county grammar schools will receive an apportionment of $16,766.42 and the High schools $2,597 71.

Will Dismiss Case

The charge against H. F. Fagan of Santa Cruz, of running down the Mervyn bus in Glen Ellen some time since will be dismissed. A letter has been received by Mr. Monahan, who swore to the complaint, asking that this be done It is understood that the people there have concluded that Fagan was not so much to blame after all. He clained that he did what he could to alleviate the injured, taking them to a hotel and making them as comfortable as possible. It is also said he left a man there to see that everything should be done for the injured.

In the aeroplane "Goldbug," at Hamsted Plains, Long Island, near Mineola, July 17, Glen H. Curtiss circled a field several times, remaining in the air 53 minutes and traveling slightly over 29 miles, at times pzeding 50 miles per hour. Curtiss is preparing to represent America at the International Aeronautical Carnival at Rhiems in a few months. The record if authenticated by the Aero Club of America qualifies Curtiss for the cup offered by the Scientific American for the best flight this year, provided it is over fifteen miles duration.

Mrs. Lubeck's Will Filed

The olographic will of the late Mrs. Amelia Barbara Lubeck, who died at her home at Shellville, July 5th, was filed for probate Friday last, by Isabella Louise Landsborough and George Whitfield, who are named in the instrument as executrix and executor without bonds. The estate consists of reality and personal property at Shellville, valued at about $5000.00. In her will deceased leaves all the property to her niece Isabella L. Landsborough, with the following request:

"I would, if possible, that she retain the home for ten years after my death, and that it be, as now, a home for any member of the family needing it, more particularly do I commend to her care John Wood Wilson, for his kindness and honesty, also the two Pauli boys, Clayton and Harold Pauli, that they find a friend in her. My books, I leave to her discretion to distribute to those friends who will value them—also all the furniture or any bric-a-brac she may dispose of as she thinks best."

The will was drawn December 7, 1900, and that at the close there is a request that her niece take sufficient money from the estate to bring Mrs. Margaret A. Bode from Queensland, Australia, to reside in this country.

Regular Monthly Meeting

The North Bay Counties Association held its regular monthly meeting last Friday evening in St. Helena. The meeting was a most successful one and was held in the city hall, while the banquet was served in the Carnegie library. The Woman's Improvement Club had charge of the banquet and the table service was handled by negro waiters. Among the matters considered at the meeting was the exhibit to be prepared for the advertising car soon to be sent east under the auspices of the association. Francis Hope, the association's official lecturer, will be intrusted with getting the exhibit in shape, and he will be assisted by the secretaries of the various promotion bodies.

The contract with Mr. Leak for the handling of the car was amended in one or two respects, and it was decided to hold the next regular meeting of the association at Fort Bragg.

FRIDAY, JULY 23, 1909.

The San Francisco real estate men report that Sonoma valley is the coming summer resort valley of the northern part of the state. Agua Caliente Springs and Boyes Hot Springs added to the natural beauty of the valley have been instrumental in advertising and building up this favored section, and it is only a matter of a short time until Sonoma itself will add more hotels and cottages to its large list of hotels. Already a capitalist is in town and may buy one of our large hotels and fix it up with modern conveniences and cater to the summer trade.

Orville Wright approached the world's speed record in Washington Wednesday in his aeroplane, when he averaged a speed of 54.5 miles per hour. The first trip lasted less than two minutes, and the second a little more than ten minutes.

At the present rate of speed development of the aeronauts in their inventions, it is safe to say that within five years we will be able to travel the skies at the rate of 200 miles per hour, and make a trip from San Francisco to New York in eighteen hours. Evidently wonders will never cease. The automobile will only travel at snail's pace in comparison.

And now we have a persistant worker for a sewer system in our midst and that worker is busy 24 hours every day, bringing forceably to our minds this great need, and is nevertiring in its argument. We speak of the innumberable cesspools gutters, etc. Everything in its season and now is the time for our trustees to get busy and bond the town for a sewer system. Let's have that bond election right away. So say we all of us.

The war on graft was opened in Chicago Wednesday when 105 indictments were returned involving 300 persons. Graft in saloons, slot machines, Chinese gambling and political were included in the indictments returned. It is asserted that the work is only a beginning and that a number of other indictments and sensational charges will develop.

Speaking of the "wonderberry" Luther Burbank states that it was far to early in the season for the eastern people who have branded the berry as a fake to tell anything about the plant. The wonderberry is at its best in the fall and the declaration from Massachusetts that it is a failure comes before the berry has been given a chance to prove itself.

A Great Parade

Perhaps the greatest feature of the forecoming Portola Festival from many points of view will be the great naval parade in which the warships of the nation will pass in review before Gaspar de Portola, that famous Spanish Captain of Dragoons who discovered the great haobor of San Francisco that now can accomodate the navies of the world.

Already fifteen ships of war representing five of the great powers have been assigned to the Festivall Great Britian has detailed three, France three, Holland one, and Japan one. The Federal Government will send seven vessels and there are other nations to hear from. There is a strong probability that Germany will detail two or more vessels from the China station, as Commisioner Chas. C. Moore has had semi-official assurance that the Kaiser wishes to participate. The South American Republics are expected to be represented.

The Metropolitan Stock Co. gave a show in Union Hall entitled "A Night Out," last evening. If possible this company desires to play in this city once weekly, producing a different play each time.

Arrests Horse Thief

Thursday afternoon Constable Ryan arrested George L. Burges who was passing through here with his wife and child, for horse stealing on a warrant issued on the 4th day of May, 1908. Burges is accused of stealing a horse in Petaluma about that time. He was put in the city jail and his wife and 13 month old baby refused to leave him and though offered comfortable lodgings remained locked up with him during last night.

Deputy Sheriff McIntosh arrived this morning from Santa Rosa and will take the prisoner to the county seat today and then probably to Petaluma for his preliminary hearing.

Constable Ryan is sure making a record for catching criminals and thiefs this year and the wrong doer had best give him a wide berth or he will surely find himself behind lock and key.

Maryland Sheriff is Coming

Sheriff Jack Smith received a telegram from Sheriff H. J. Hager of Port Deposit, Maryland, asking that Johnson be held. Johnson is the man who surrendered to Deputy Joe Ryan, and admitted he had killed a man in Maryland.

Sheriff Hager telegraphed Sheriff Smith as follows:

"Photograph received. Identified him so completely will leave for California this week."

This is an important matter, and Sheriff Smith's prompt work in notifying the eastern people that the man was in custody here will probably bring a guilty man to just punishment. At first it was believed no credence could be placed in the story told by Johnson. There were many places where there was room for doubt, especially in the story Johnson told of his coming across the continent on freight trains, and in other particulars.

The man whom Johnson is supposed to have murdered is named McAllister, and they worked together as farm hands on a ranch some miles from Fort Deposit.

The telegram to Sheriff Smith arrived early Monday morning and Johnson showed no remorse when told the sheriff of the eastern state was coming here to take him back to face his crime. At the time he surrendered Johnson admitted he was tired of having to dodge the officers in each place he went, and said he was anxious to go back and take his punishment.

Bank to Re-Open

The California Safe Deposit and Trust Company, under a new management and with a new name, will open its doors on the first day of the Portola festival next October. This was decided at a meeting of the various interests participating in the re-organization of the institution at which Walter J. Barnett was presented.

Julius W. Raphael, president of the Depositors Association, said that he and the other re-organizers believe that Portola day will be singularly appropriate for the re opening of the bank. Raphael said:

"There are 12,000 depositors in the bank and a large number of stockholders, and these with their families and their immediate friends make a large body of San Francisco citizens who will have cause to rejoice when the bank opens.

"Since the Portola festival is in celebration of the re habitation of San Fransisco as a city in the face of formidable obsticles so shall the Portola festivel mark the rehabitation of this bank in the face of heavy obsticles.

"Through the re opening of the bank we hope to be able to contribute materially to the growing spirit of rejoicing that will permeate the city during Portola week. There is no reason that I can see why the re-organization should not be completed in plenty of time to carry out the plan of re-opening on Portola day.

The capital here is assured; all that remains is for the depositors and stockholders to give prompt and hearty support in San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Rubke returned from their honeymoon last Monday evening. A large number of friendscongregated at the home of Mr. H. RubkeWednesday and gave the happy couple their congratulations and well wishes.

Mrs Mollie Agnew, who has been spending a few days with her sister Mrs. J J. Dunbar, went to Petaluma to visit her brother A. W. Agnews, before returning to her home in Oakland.

Present "The Traveler"

The Sonoma Odd Fellows and Rebekahs will go to Santa Rosa tomorrow evening and there join the other lodges of the county and will witness the presentation and reception of "The Traveler," which will be presented by the Vallejo Lodge to the Santa Rosa lodge. All the lodges of this order in Sonoma county have been invited to attend in a body, wearing regalia as guests of the Santa Rosa lodge.

There will be a parade and the program at the Pavilion will be interpersed with an instrumental and musical program. The presentation of "The Traveler" will be made by Past Master J. S. Frederickson, of Golden State Lodge, No. 216, of Vallejo, and it will be received by Judge Albert G. Burnett, of the Appelate Court, in behalf of Santa Rosa Lodge, No. 23. Past Master Theodore Bell, of Napa, will be the orator of the evening. After the program there will be dancing at the Pavilion and all night Odd Fellows hall will be open to visitors. Arrangements have been made for a monster banquet in Bower's Hall, adjoining the pavilion during the evening, at which 600 visitors will be seated at a time until all have been fed.

The affair promises to be the largest demonstration of Odd Fellowship ever witnesses in Sonoma county.

Surprise Party

A number of the girl students of the High School gave Bernice Hocker a delightful surprise party last Friday afternoon. Dainty refreshments were serve and a very enjoyable afternoon was spent.

Gustaf Schoppe

Monday occurred the death of Gustaf Schoppe, in the Baxter tract, of heart failure. He was a native of Germany, aged 60 years and leaves wife and son to mourn their loss and to whom the sympathy of the community is extended.

The funeral services were held Tuesday, and the remains were interred in the Valley Cemetery.

Coroner Blackburn waived the inquest as all were satisfied that the deceased met his death by heart failure.

Same Old Story

Judge Lawler is not satisfied with the poor showing made in securing a jury for the second trial of Patrick Calhoun. During the proceedings since the re-trial commenced 225 talesmen have been examined in court and excused either for bias or for personal reasons.

Lawler told the attorneys that he did not think they were moving fast enough and to expediate matters he ordered one hundred names of jurers drawn from the jury box to be returned in court this morning.

In Buying Eggs it isn't Age but Quality That Counts.

In securing a business education you should certainly be governed by QUALITY, not age.

We do not guarantee many things, but one thing we do guarantee, and that is: To give you as thorough and practical training in Bookkeeping, Shorthand, Typewriting, English and Business Correspondence as you can possibly secure anywhere, and in addition thereto a valuable course in Advertising and Salesmanship, gratis.

And while there is always a demand for competent stenographers, yet those who "know how" to advertise and sell goods in addition to being able to write fast shorthand, will surely secure the best positions—where promotion is bound to come.

Write for prospectus, or better still, make a personal investigation and you will be convinced that the

THE SECRET OUT.

To refute the many false and malicious attacks, bogus formulæ and other untruthful statements published concerning Doctor Pierce's World-famed Family Medicines, the Doctor has decided to publish all the ingredients entering into his "Favorite Prescription" for women and his equally popular tonic alterative known as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Hereafter every bottle of these medicines leaving the great Laboratory at Buffalo, N. Y., will bear upon it a full list of all the ingredients entering into the compound. Both are made entirely from native roots, of rare medicinal value. The ingredients of the "Golden Medical Discovery" being Golden Seal root, Queen's root, Stone root, Black Cherrybark, Mandrake root and Bloodroot. The "Favorite Prescription" is prepared in a similar manner, from Blue Cohosh root, Lady's Slipper root, Unicorn root, Golden Seal root and Rattleweed root, these ingredients being macerated for a long time at a rather high temperature in a menstruum composed of chemically pure glycerine, of proper strength. The exact working formula for making these medicines cost Dr. Pierce and his collaborating Chemists and Pharmacists many years of study and experiments, but as perfected they produce almost perfect pharmaceutical compounds, embodying all the active medicinal principles residing in the ingredients employed, and this, too, in such form and combination as to keep unchanged in any climate. Thus the use of alcohol is entirely avoided.

PROOF POSITIVE.

Without solicitation, Mrs. H. Harrison, of 112 West 2d Street, Sioux City, Iowa, wrote us as follows:

"I suffered for more than seven years with a very complicated form of female trouble accompanied with nervous prostration, and after doctoring with six physicians (all bearing excellent reputations), was informed that unless an operation was performed I would be an invalid all my life. Hearing of the wonderful cures effected by Dr. R. V. Pierce's remedies, and believing that there must be a cure for almost every ailment, I determined to make one more effort. I wrote to Dr. Pierce, and I will never forget his kindly advice, telling me to follow his instructions faithfully and not to submit to an operation I commenced to improve after six weeks treatment, and in five months my improvement was so noticeable to friends that they began to inquire about my method of treatment. I was pleased to tell them of the wonderful means of cure that I had most fortunately found, and, as so many ladies applied to me for information regarding Dr. Pierce's world-famed medicines and his plans of treatment, I felt in duty bound to give them the benefit of my experience, so, told them the facts. The large number of positive cures effected by Doctor Pierce's remedies alone, used by my recommendation, seemed, in one year's time, nothing short of a miracle. I couldn't have believed it had I not seen the parties and known the facts."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets. Good temper is largely a matter of good health, and good health is largely a matter of healthy activity of the bowels. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. They are safe, sure and speedy, and once taken do not have to be taken always. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. They never gripe. By all druggists.

MADE IN HEAVEN.

By T. BLAIR EATON.

Copyrighted, 1908, by Associated Literary Press.

The bishop had just landed a bluefish. It was a big fish, and before it was finally hauled into the cockpit of the Sally B. it had displayed undoubted qualities of gameness that had warmed the cockles of the bishop's heart.

Therefore, as Jim Crocker, who always took the bishop out when he fished in Sepennessett bay, flattened down the sheet and headed the little catboat for the rips once more there was a seraphic smile on the bishop's intellectual face.

He stood with one foot on the seat, paying out his line astern, his eyes taking in delightedly the sparkle and flash of the water and the little white clouds creeping up above the horizon.

Those clouds whispered of a smart breeze later on, and with the wind freshened a bit it would be an ideal day for fish. Anon the bishop turned to survey his latest catch, and each time as he did so he gave a little chuckle of satisfaction.

Suddenly there was a mighty tug at the line; astern was a flash of blue and silver as the fish leaped from the water. The bishop took a firmer hold on the line, and his eyes glowed with excitement.

"Ease her up a bit, Jim," he called to the man at the tiller. "Look at the fellow I've hooked this time. He's the father of them all!"

So engrossed was the bishop with his fish that he did not hear the quick panting of a gasoline engine, nor did he see the power boat tearing toward them, sending up twin waves of white spume at its bow.

Just as the second fish—and it was considerably larger than the first—was hauled aboard the Sally B. the coughing exhaust of the engine ceased and the power boat shot alongside.

There were two men in it—a big, athletic young fellow with clean cut features who stood beside the wheel in the bow and a small, dark man, evidently the engineer, perched on the seat by the engine amidships.

"THAT'S THE MORNING BOAT TO THE ISLAND."

"Hello!" the big young man hailed them. "Is this Bishop Carrington's boat?"

"I am Bishop Carrington," said the bishop.

"Good," said the other, with much relief. "Bishop, I wish to goodness you'd have spread the news abroad last night that you were down here. It would have saved me no end of worry. As it is, we've time enough yet. I'm going to ask you to do me a favor, if you will—a very great favor. My name is Devereaux—John Henderson Devereaux. I think you knew my father very well."

"Look here," said the bishop, "are you Billy Devereaux's son?"

"The same," young Devereaux grinned.

"My boy," said the bishop heartily, "come aboard."

"There isn't time," said the younger man. "Bishop, as I say, I am going to ask a favor of you."

"Don't hesitate to do so," said the bishop graciously.

"I want you to come with me in the power boat to Dark Island."

"Well, well, well!" said the bishop, the while a frown wrinkled his brows. "That will be an hour's run in that boat of yours. Another, too, to get back here, and the fishing this morning is particularly good. Am I very necessary to your plans, whatever they are?"

The young man in the power boat leaned forward eagerly.

"Bishop," said he, "I just watched you land that last fish of yours, and the manner in which you did it told me—pardon my frankness—that you have a bit of sporting blood in your veins. Therefore I think this favor I am going to ask of you you'll grant me. I can get you to Dark Island in this craft in forty-five minutes by driving her, and we can get back home in the same time. I'll promise you won't be away from your fishing over two hours. Will you come?"

"You are Billy Devereaux's son," sighed the bishop. "For that reason I consent. Nothing else, I assure you, would take me from this fishing."

Reluctantly he climbed into the power boat. "I'll be back in two hours, Jim," he called to the boatman. He turned to the young man at the wheel. "Now, then, my fine kidnaper, make all speed for Dark island, and while we are getting there suppose you tell me what is at the bottom of all this."

"A lady," said Devereaux simply as the boat went tearing across the bay.

"So I surmised," said the bishop dryly. "Do you mind telling me her name?"

"You probably know her," said the other. "It's Margaret Sterling."

"Yes, I know her," said the bishop. "Now a few details, if you please."

"Of course you know her aunt, Mrs. Bradbury?" said the younger man.

"I do," said the bishop, with a certain grim emphasis.

Young Devereaux pointed to a trail of smoke just above the southern horizon.

"You see that smoke?" he asked. "Well, that's the morning boat to the island. On that boat are Margaret's aunt and Sir William Winterham, with all his titles trailing him. He arrived from England yesterday, and Mrs. Bradbury is bringing him up here to the Crags. The rest is obvious. Mrs. Bradbury's word is law with Margaret, who has lived with her aunt all her life. It's a splendid match from Mrs. Bradbury's point of view."

He paused.

"Go on," the bishop commanded.

"Well, I have different views on the subject," said Devereaux, with a sudden squaring of his broad shoulders that filled the bishop with secret admiration, "and down in her heart I am sure Margaret has too. When Mrs. Bradbury and Sir William, with all his distinctions, land at the steamboat pier, which is just in front of the Crags, I want Mrs. John Henderson Devereaux to be the first to greet them. That is the favor I want to ask of you. You catch my meaning, I trust?"

"Well, bless me!" said the amazed bishop. He sat silent for a time. Then "Bless me!" he said again. "The impudence of you—the astounding impudence!"

He began to chuckle softly.

"Is this boat going at her best speed?" he asked. "We've got to make Dark island ahead of that steamer. I say we've got to."

The steamer was whistling off the island when the power boat shot up to the pier by the Crags, and the bishop and young Devereaux, scrambling out, hurried up the path to the big house among the pines. As they reached the plazza a radiant girl came forward to meet them. Devereaux, breathless, but with shining eyes, wasted no time in greetings.

"Margaret," said he, "this is my father's oldest friend, Bishop Carrington. He is here to marry us—at once, before that steamer docks."

"Oh!" said the girl, flushing beautifully. "Oh!"

For the moment she seemed utterly bewildered. Then she turned to the bishop with a smile of comprehension.

"Are you quite ready, bishop?" she asked with quiet pride, taking her place by the young man's side.

"Dearly beloved brethren, we are gathered together here"— began the bishop in sonorous tones, when the steamboat whistle, sounding close to the pier, interrupted him.

"We had best abbreviate," he said hurriedly. "The boat will be in before we can finish the complete service."

Five minutes later the bishop was congratulating the happy pair before him.

"And now," said he, a bit uneasily, "if you'll lend me your power boat and your engineer, John, I think I'll get back to the bay. The fishing is simply wonderful this morning, and—er—I sides, I think it would perhaps be prudent under the circumstances for me to meet Mrs. Bradbury a little later."

At Last.

Mrs. Silas Bennett was a philosopher. On a certain dismal occasion some of the neighboring women were condoling with her. With commendable cheerfulness she replied:

"I've raised four girls an' three boys, expectin' every time they'd be twins and red headed like their Grandpa Bennett, an' yet they ain't.

"An' I've worried consid'ble over smallpox breakin' out in my big family. So fer 'tain't.

"Last summer durin' July an' August an' mebbe part of September I was real meloncholic, fearin' I'd got an appendix, but I guess I ain't.

"An' through it all it never onct occurred to me that I'd be the one to fall through them rotten old mectin' house steps an' break my leg in two places, but I be."

In Extremis.

Late one night a clergyman was called out to minister to an old man—a worker upon the adjacent railway—who was supposed to be dying. The summons was brought by another old man, the elder brother of the stricken one. While he was bustling about, making preparations for departure, the clergyman forgot momentarily the social status of his visitor and asked, "Is he in extremis?"

The old man was not going to be beaten. "Aye, he's right in, your reverence," After a pause he added as a clincher: "Clean in, poor chap. Right up to the neck, sir."—Cornhill Magazine.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrah That Contains Mercury

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering through the mucus surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicans, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrah Cure, manufactured by F. M. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting promptly upon the blood and mucus surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrah Cure be sure and get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Torledo, Ohio, by F. M. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.
